BUILD A COVINA HILLTOP HOME

NEW RESIDENCE PLANNED FOR COVINA HILLS

Bethlehem Steel Man to Build; Another in Construction

Bids were out this week for the construction of a two-story, attractively-modern type of residence on one of the knolls in Lomitas Heights, south of Covina, to be built for Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hewitt of Pasadena. Building permit was taken in the name of Marion Towar Hewitt, it was stated.

Harvey Hewitt is an executive of the Bethlehem Steel company, and has been living for some years in Pasadena. The eleven-room residence is on eleven acres of young orange trees on Cameron street, west of Oregon Drive.

The property was sold several months ago by Henry Damerel, and is a part of an extensive tract which he has developed to oranges and avocados in the past several years. In many ways it is considered to be the most desirable building property in the upper San Gabriel valley, lying close to the Holt avenue highway, but more or less secluded in among the rolling lomas, commanding a magnificent view of the Covina orchard country and the great rampart of the Sierra Madre mountains on the north.

Another residence on a hill-top site is now partially completed for A. C. McGilvray of Pasadena. This is situated on Lorencita Drive in the Covina Highlands tract. Subdividers and owners of property in these hills south of Covina said this week that several who have purchased property in the past few years are getting ready to improve with residences this year, but that no mention can be made of them until building permits are issued. Several of the roads that were deeded to the county are to be improved with macadam, it was stated.

Frank Brandon Now Operator of Shell Station

Frank Brandon closed a lease last Friday whereby he becomes the operator of the Shell service station at the corner of Citrus avenue and Cottage Drive. Mr. Brandon, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brandon, has been associated with the local Shell station from the time it was opened here and is thoroughly familiar with the business. He will be assisted by Billy Hyde, who was formerly with the George Ross tire shop.

In taking over the station Mr. Brandon states that he will continue to operate the business as it has been conducted in the past, and while it will be a strictly independent station, he will continue with Shell gasoline and other products. Having a complete equipment for greasing cars, lubrication service will receive special attention, and thru his wide acquaintance in Covina and vicinity and his knowledge of the business the new proprietor expects to substantially increase the volume of the station.

Voorhis Announces Annapolis Exams

Chance for a twelfth congressional district boy to become a midshipman at Annapolis was announced this week by Congressman Jerry Voorhis, who invites boys interested to take a preliminary examination on Tuesday afternoon and evening, March 30, beginning at 2 o'clock at Covina high school, room 11.

Unexpected vacancy was created by resignation of a midshipman from this district suffering from serious eye trouble. Sealed examinations from the civil service bureau in Washington will be used in the tests, with high school teachers in charge.

Four best qualified boys will take the regular Annapolis examination in Los Angeles, April 21, under the United States bureau of navigation. Candidates must be single, and not less than sixteen years nor more than twenty years of age on April 1, 1937, and not less than five feet five and one-half inches in height, nor more than six feet four. Applicants are forewarned that ability in mathematics is essential.

Additional information, including outline of subjects in the examination, may be had from V. R. Long, field secretary for Congressman Voorhis, at the chamber of commerce building, Baldwin Park.

Three boys this month took the West Point examination at San Francisco, following preliminary tests in El Monte. The three boys qualifying in the preliminary twelfth district quiz were residents of South Pasadena, Pomona and Belvedere Gardens. The result of the final examination will be known shortly.

Spain's Revolt World Menace

Sit-Down Strikes Declared Peril to Democracy

Graphic analyses of the tragic situation in Spain, repercussions in France, and serious implications as relate to our own country, were given by Dr. James Beveridge of California Preparatory school before the luncheon meeting of Covina Rotary club yesterday, an address with little pessimism concerning the future peace of the world, but nevertheless containing a grave note of warning.

As a world traveler and lecturer on history and economics, Dr. Beveridge has come to be known as a clear analyst of national drifts, and is especially interested at the present with the civil war raging in the Iberian peninsula, an area which he visited last year. He says that the great civil conflict which has gone thru various phases since 1931, was first led and sponsored by intellectuals, but that the revolution, as is the case with all such uprisings, speedily got into the hands of the radicals and ruthless politicians, just as also happened in Russia, and which has happened in French history. The present conflict began with a sit-down strike in the great Spanish mining region, when three thousand miners were killed by government troops, and the speaker said that the sit-down strike is the greatest menace to democratic government that can be noted today, in France and in the United States and other countries.

France, a left-wing Socialist government, was obliged to fire on rioters presumably within their own ranks a few days ago, an outbreak which Dr. Beveridge links with the conflict in Spain. Mountainous boundaries which in years past provided a barrier between nations no longer prevent the spread of propaganda, due to modern transportation and communication.

France is definitely menaced by the struggle in Spain, and this means (Continued to last page)

Social Security Officials Here

James F. Smiley, California and Nevada director for the social security board, and Roy A. McMillan, public relations executive for the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, were in Covina Tuesday, calling on local officials in connection with the operation of this legislation during the next year.

A general survey of the needs of communities is being prepared for state and national consideration, they said.

NAVELS FINDING GOOD MARKETS ON EAST COAST

Prices Remain Firm, Redball Brand Gets Strong Preference

Strong air movement over the San Gabriel valley yesterday, the tail-end of gales along the coast, proved very favorable to condition of navels still in the orchards following the soaking rains of the past week, orange packing officials said, in commenting on the fact that lucky breaks are being experienced by local valley shippers.

California Fruit Growers Exchange teletype yesterday noon carried the first frost warning for nearly eight weeks, announcing that temperatures of thirty degrees could be expected sometime during last night (Thursday) and early morning today. The message gave some concern to walnut growers who stand in fear of bud frosting.

Rapid drying out of orchards has been an aid to harvesting, Henry Damerel, one of the largest packers, said. Most of the fruit damaged by water rot and extreme ripeness is already on the ground, making the fruit still to go in as good condition as can be expected in the latter part of the navel season.

Florida prunes of 1200 cars of valencias and 500 cars of grapefruit have not overloaded the eastern market. The trade has been offered thirteen cars less than a week ago and 396 cars less than a year ago at this time from the California shippers. Prices have been somewhat higher, and the demand stronger than last week.

Texas fruit shipments are diminishing, and will be out of the way by the first of April. Sunkist Redball brand from California has been in great demand, the report revealed. There is to be an increased demand for small and medium sizes.

Shippers in the upper San Gabriel valley area were this week still marveling at the excellent condition of the local fruit following the severest freeze in local history, and scarcely willing to believe the actual facts that this valley's crop had been saved by orchard heating to the point where the frost damage can be said to be negligible. Good prices and good volume of navels sold will more than offset the great aggregate of heating, it was stated.

Drew Carriage Company Makes Staff Increase

That business is on the upgrade at the Drew Carriage company store is indicated by the addition of two new employees made necessary to take care of the increase. Monday of this week Stanley Gordon of Long Beach was placed in charge of the household appliance department. Mr. Gordon has had a wide experience with all types of electric appliances, which will be a valuable help in this department of the business.

Randall Henry, also a new man in the Drew organization, will assist Lynn Breakey in the automotive parts division, giving Mr. Breakey more time to devote to the outside trade.

Speaking of the business outlook, T. P. Logan, manager at Drew's, said yesterday: "We have had a successful year, one of the best we have had since the Covina store was opened, and I believe the coming year will show a greater growth in business than we had last year. Each department seems to be sharing in this increase."

Churches Plan for Sunrise Services

A special musical program, furnished by a combined church choir, will be given at dawn Easter Sunday in Lark Ellen bowl at the home of Madame Ellen Beach Yaw, south of Covina, when churches of Covina will usher in the day of religious rejoicing.

The sermon will be delivered by Rev. V. C. Hayman of the Covina Baptist church. A full program will be published next week.

Whittier Educator to Speak Here

DR. W. O. MENDENHALL

Chamber Dinner Arranged for Monday Night

A ticket-sale which already assures a comprehensive valley representation has been effected by a Covina chamber of commerce committee for the annual dinner of that organization to be held next Monday night in Memorial hall.

Dr. W. O. Mendenhall, president of Whittier college, a speaker of national reputation on civic, social and educational subjects, will deliver the principal address, and there will be prominent men from other valley chambers in attendance. Everyone in the valley, with emphasis on business men, district corporation managers, salesmen and ranchers, is invited, and these will be expected to invite employees as has been the custom at past annual affairs.

Attorney Porter T. Kerckhoff, as chairman of arrangements, will act as toastmaster, and Joe Coles, with Mrs. Faye Ferguson at piano, will lead community singing. The Covina firemen, assisted by the staff of Bush's tearoom, will provide the dinner.

At the meeting next Tuesday noon of the chamber board in Longworth's cafe, President James G. Hodges announced that there will be an important discussion of the proposal to carry Covina sewer outfall to the ocean by a possible connection with the sewer system that has its culmination at White's Point. Mayor George H. Maxfield of Covina will be present and outline the present plan, as well as other members of the city council.

Colt Ball Team Enters Pomona Tournament

When the crack baseball teams of southern California compete in Pomona's annual 20-30 club invitational tournament next week, Butter Gorrell's Colt nine will be represented. This year will mark the fifth time that Covina has entered the affair, which is steadily growing in popularity. In the present playoffs some forty schools will compete, among them Hoover, Glendale, Muir Tech, Long Beach, and others.

Covina's first game is scheduled for eight o'clock on Monday morning. The Colts' opponent is to be Chino high, which last year tumbled the Gorrellmen in a surprise upset. Should the cardinal and white survive the first ordeal, their next hurdle may be Long Beach Poly, Coach Gorrell being stated.

WIND-BLOWN STORMS SWEEP VALLEY AREAS

Heavy Showers Bring New Life to Hills and Orchards

RAINFALL (Southern Pacific Gauge)
For the season.....23.13
Last year to date.....11.93

Spring showers of the traditional, freakish type caused rain gauges to vary in marked fashion in distances of a few miles over San Gabriel valley during the past week, bringing a storm to Covina area on the thirteenth of 1.20 inches, and another on the sixteenth of 1.15 inches, warm rains that brought new life to orchards and pastures.

A thunderstorm on Tuesday flooded the streets of Pomona, damaged electric power lines and telephone system, while at the same time, Covina was being treated to a moderate rainfall. Same storm that inundated Pomona paid a visitation a few hours earlier to Whittier, giving the Quaker city a demonstration of Jupiter Pluvius in an ambitious mood. These storms were accompanied by electrical pyrotechnics and crashing thunder. During the past week the Covina valley has heard the sharp crash of thunder and witnessed vivid lightning display on a scale not seen in many years.

During the past week Los Angeles city experienced one of its unusual periods of weather, when floods held all traffic for several hours, stopping motor vehicles and street cars. Present storm-drain system was totally inadequate in the downtown area.

Rains over the valley have been of incalculable value to fruit ranches and hill pastures, R. N. Hutchison, district agricultural inspector, said yesterday. Greatest stand of burr clover and other pasture feed in years is assured. Damage to the navel crop might be said to be negligible, as there have been periods between rains allowing for drying out of orchards, and also it is a fact that weak fruit for the most part has dropped to the ground, so that loss from water-rot has already been taken, he said.

Covina Lions Cheer Foothill Talk Marathon

Twenty-eight Covina Lions club members, betting their shirts and shoes on the winning of their five-minute entry in the Foothill Council preliminary, descended in a body last night on the meeting at Aladena Golf club, and cheered him from the spectators' stands as he came down the stretch bunched with high-power speakers from nine other Lions clubs of the valley.

Bill Edgett, president of the Covina den, and Stanley Shaver, the big chief this year of the Foothill conclave, said afterwards it looked like a camera flash, but actual results will not be known until George Ross starts his publicity mill next week.

Covina's entry was Harry Earle, promising young pulpist orator of more than local fame, selected to carry on for Covina this year in the place of Leland Brubaker, who last year won the valley sweepstakes. The contest is a local buildup for state and national finals.

Monday noon meeting at Longworth's cafe resulted in revealing a lot of hitherto suppressed history of Ben Jenks, cashier of the First National bank, who was put on the pan to answer questions about his past life, a feature that is an occasional pastime at local Lions club meetings.

Mills Joins Force at Sawyer Store

R. W. Mills of El Monte has taken a position with the Sawyer Furniture company, entering upon his new duties on Monday of this week. Mr. Mills, who has many years of experience as a furniture salesman, will devote most of his time to outside sales, but will assist at the store during the illness of Clyett Easley, who is now recovering from an operation.

Two Hundred Costumed Players, Singers, Appear Tonight in "The Quest"

Including principals, populace, soldiery and choir members, nearly two hundred Covina city and valley citizens will participate tonight (Friday) and Saturday night at Covina high school auditorium in "The Quest," pre-Easter play-pageant, written by Mrs. Myra Nye, and staged by Miss Beulah Yeager of the school dramatics department. Two capacity houses were indicated by this week's advance ticket sales.

MYRA NYE

"The Quest" has been sponsored by the Little Theater group as a Lenten effort. It depicts many of the scenes of the life of Christ, and teaches the essential lessons of the Savior's life, death and passion. The time is dawn of a day in the year of Rome, 747, with the three wise men conferring at the opening scene in the desert near Jerusalem. The parts are taken by Dean Fesler, Harold Harrington and Edward Schamel. The two youthful lead parts, that of Milo, the Roman boy, and Daphne, his sweetheart, are assumed by Donald Neely and Mary Ben Kerckhoff; Tobias, his servant, by Eldret Allee; Rachel, Milo's former nurse, by Grace Austin; Amos, a shepherd, by Keith Nichols; a Jewish woman, by Ellen Beach Yaw; a neighbor, by Mary Raftery; a Roman captain, by Allan White; Roman soldiers, Frank DeLay and Bruce Baird.

The role of Crassius, a Roman, is taken by Wilbur Tully; Sorai, a tapestry vendor, by Mayme Reynolds; a beggar, by Bill Lang; a haughty woman, by Mary Raftery; her children, by Mildred Harrington, Darrel Emmert; Rachel and Amos, Grace Austin, Keith Nichols; their son, by Howard Hall; a kind woman, by Grace Carter; her daughter, by Joyce Colver; a nurse, by Jacqueline Tull; children, by Nancy Kirkland and Frances Kerckhoff; a passerby, by Margaret Hoffman; a merchant, by Eldret Allee; his wife, by Donna Allee; Azuba, a siren, by Estelle Allee; her companions, by Elizabeth Cook and Evelyn King; a Roman soldier, by Ed Schamel; lepers, by Mrs. J. T. Huntington; Grace Carter, Ella Hunter, J. T. Huntington; Judas, by Bill Lang; Pilate, by Harold Harrington; high priest, by Ed Schamel; Delmatia, a Greek girl, by Margaret Hoffman; two Jews, by Allan White, Bruce Baird; Legionnaire, Allan White; Soldiers, by Frank DeLay, Bruce Baird, Wilbur Tully; people in the streets, Jacqueline Tull, Evelyn King, Ella Hunter, Mary Raftery, John Huntington, Keith Nichols, Mary M. Coman.

Choir music will be sung thruout by about seventy voices from the auditorium gallery, and directed by Frank Cummings, accompanied by Joseph Wayne, using a Hammond electric organ. Principal numbers will include Gounod's Sanctus; Adoremus Te by Palestrina; The Hensons Are Telling, by Haydn, and other incidental music. The choir has been organized by Ralph Nye, and committees from each church and the Woman's club are handling the costumes, ticket sales and other details.

As a stage pageant-spectacle, it will be the largest in scope and cast of any production ever attempted in this valley.

Junior Lions Secure Richard Halliburton

Covina Junior Lions are jubilant in having secured Richard Halliburton, author and lecturer, for their speaker at a meeting in high school auditorium, Wednesday evening, April 26.

Local members are making arrangements for one of the largest meetings in the history of the organization, based on the national reputation of the speaker, whose books and lectures have been read and heard by many hundreds of thousands in this country.

Simpsons Building Four-Room House

A four-room house, which is to be a unit of a bungalow court, was under construction this week on West Badillo street near the Episcopal church, to be built for rental by the owners, Earl Simpson and his son, Robert.

The Simpsons said this week that it is their intention to group a number of homes on this site in the event that the demand warrants it. The construction is in the hands of Harry Shank, local contractor.

SLOT MACHINES CALLED IN BY COVINA CHIEF

Eight Local Places Surrender Devices for Gaming

Following a meeting of city chiefs of police in Los Angeles, attended by Chief Ralph Coolman of Covina, when the state attorney general's office informed them that all slot and marble machines are illegal, eight places of business in Covina were notified this week to cease operation of these machines, and immediately complied with the order.

Similar action is being taken by cities and in county territory this week, Chief Coolman said, with the biggest problem confronting police officers in Los Angeles city, where many thousands of these machines have been operating openly over a long period.

Just why the order came at this time after several years when certain kinds of machines were considered "games of skill" and others "games of chance," was not clear to the city officials, but the order was peremptory, and included the machines that hitherto had been considered outside of the law's ban.

Practically all of these machines are owned by one person, a concern in Los Angeles, and have been distributed all over the Pacific coast and in Mexico. Constant complaints were received from citizens in cities and in Los Angeles county territory that the machines were a menace to the morals of youth, especially to school children who often played the machines with nickels and dimes instead of spending the money for lunches as expected by their parents.

In Covina the slot and marble machines have this week been piled in a vacant store-room, awaiting shipment back to Los Angeles, or perhaps for a reversal of the state ruling, which may come, inasmuch as legal opinions have seen-sawed back and forth several times in the past few years. The recent drastic ruling may have something to do with the fact that Los Angeles city primary elections are approaching, some of the wise ones said, and that after elections there may be found new grounds for opening up again.

Travel and Magic for Men's Club

Bert L. Cooper, Claremont attorney, a world-traveler and lecturer, will talk on present-day world affairs at the meeting tonight (Friday) of the Covina Men's club, which begins with a supper at 6:30. President Stanley F. Truettblood said that the meeting is open to all men of the valley, including overnight strangers within the city.

Franton, the magician, for several years with the Tom Mix circus, will stage a thirty-minute program. The audience will be led in new interpretations of old songs by Songleader Joe Coles.

Former Edison Manager Opens Realty Office

Announcements are in the mail this week to citizens thruout the valley of the opening of a real estate office by Roy C. Hanna, former Edison company, at 143 East College street, just east of the Edison company offices. With him will be associated his son-in-law, Robert B. Craddock.

In the same offices, Henry Persons, valley agent for the New York Life Insurance company, will have offices. The building, which at one time was the office of the Edison company in the old days, has been thoroughly renovated and made fit for office business.

Roy Hanna has been a business and civic leader in the community since coming here as valley manager for the Edison company. He served as the directing head of this company for twelve and one-half years, during a time when the valley was rapidly expanding in ranch and residential values. As perhaps no other man in the valley, he knows the character of valley properties, and has a wide acquaintance among business men and ranchers. He has been a prominent Rotarian and a member of the local chamber of commerce. He lives with his sister, Miss Edna Hanna, on East Puente street, and has ranch interests of his own near Covina.

Baldwin Park Woman Buys Pedersen Cafe

After fifteen years of successful operation of a restaurant in Covina, S. G. Pedersen and his wife, popularly known as "Ma" Pedersen by the horde of high school lunch patrons, have sold the business to Mrs. Haynes of Baldwin Park.

The new owner will take over the operation on April 1. She is declared to be as popular as a food purveyor in her home town as the Pedersens have been in Covina, and is planning a number of changes, including the renovation of the interior. The Pedersens will retain ownership of the building, which they have owned for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen said yesterday that they plan going to Yuma after the first of the month, where they have property interests, and where they were originally in business before coming here. They have always been very popular with Covina city and valley citizens, especially "Ma" Pedersen, who has been known as a real friend of school children. It has long been said of her that she could talk children into eating spinach instead of cake, which should stand as a record of some kind. Many of the high school sports dinners have been held at this cafe.

No change in the personnel of the restaurant is contemplated at present, the new owner said. Mrs. Cupp will remain as pastry cook, and Gladys Hyde and Florence Wynn will have charge of the counters.

Covina Toastmasters Now Chartered Unit

To be known henceforth as Unit No. 76 of Toastmasters International, Covina Toastmasters' club received its charter Tuesday night of this week at a dinner and program in Oddfellows' hall, with prominent members of the international organization present and participating.

The affair was attended by one hundred of the valley's notables in training for toastmaster honors, and including President Harry M. Baude, the charter was presented by Ralph B. Griffith, local president, by Ralph C. Smedley of Santa Ana, founder of Toastmasters' clubs and honorary president of the international. The G. L. Blanchard, Warrenton, Scamman, founder said that membership in these organizations had increased fifty per cent during the past year.

International officers and club members from points as far distant as Santa Monica, Angeles Mesa, Huntington Park and various Orange county cities, as well as from Alhambra, Azusa, La Verne, Pomona and other clubs in this vicinity were introduced.

Pomona Toastmasters' club, which sponsored the Covina club and presented two sample programs here during the organization, was represented by a delegation of 20, including President Harry M. Baude, the charter was presented by Ralph B. Griffith, local president, by Ralph C. Smedley of Santa Ana, founder of Toastmasters' clubs and honorary president of the international. The G. L. Blanchard, Warrenton, Scamman, founder said that membership in these organizations had increased fifty per cent during the past year.

Proceeding the after-dinner program there was community singing (Continued to last page)

I'LL SHOW THEM

I've been having a lot of lessons On how married men should live. I've listened to these friends of mine And the advice they like to give. But while they talk I watch them As they tell what they would do. Of the changes they would make If they were starting out anew.

So I have heeded all these warnings And I've devised myself a plan. I'm going to show that I'll be boss When I become a married man. Of course, I'll be a model husband. But I'll rule the Roost, by heck. I'll show what perfect control I have With that noose around my neck.

You see, when I take on the yoke I'm going to start out right. For after waiting all these years I am exceptionally bright. I can see how other men have failed By taking orders from "the wife." Don't think I'll ever stand for this! No, sir, not on your life.

It'll be nice to hear these poor men say.

"I wish I'd started off like Bill." I know that they will envy me And it will give me quite a thrill When we go out among them And I order my wife about— Guess I better quit my dreaming Before someone knocks me out.

—W. E. W.

And yet I may turn out to be like all the rest of them.

One of my teacher friends was taken down a peg or two last week. She had been helping one of her scholars in her studies and the next morning the little girl brought her a box of candy, saying that her mother had sent it. "Your mother shouldn't have done that," Miss Ora said. "Oh, that's all right," replied the pupil, "daddy brought it to mamma last night and she couldn't eat it 'cause she's on a diet and she wanted to get it out of her sight."

Senator Norris created a sensationate deliberations last week by snapping a rubber band. Funny how a little thing like that would bother all those rubber stamps.

Recently Frank Bartholomew, the tall, skinny, smiling-faced clerk at the Alpha Beta market, brought a brand new bride to Covina and, being unable to find a house right away, they went to live with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Campbell until they could get located.

Last Friday morning the radio at the store was going and when a poultry-raising program came on one of the boys started to change to something else but Earl stopped him. "Leave that program on," he said. "I've got a couple of love birds at my house and I want to learn what to do with them."

Maybe if we could get the Werners, Dave Clark and Miss Love off the front page we could find some real news again.

We never miss the water until the well runs dry. For several months I have heard people cussing because the "Covina" neon sign at Citrus and Holt had been taken down, but I didn't mind it much because I hadn't been coming home in the dark. Sunday night some Los Angeles friends were bringing me home and they did not know where to turn off in order to reach Covina. After driving past Citrus avenue several times we finally made it, amid several expressions of disgust by my friends.

Monday I made some inquiries and discovered that the sign had been removed when the widening of the boulevard was started. As long as the city had a permit to put the sign there it looks to me like the road contractor should be the one to put it back where it belongs. Anyway, there ought to be a sign there so visitors could tell where to find us.

Over in Germany the papers and the people can talk about the United States all they want to and can say all manner of things against us, but let someone over here say something about Hitler and there is a heck of a mess. Still, most wars have been caused by some wise politician talking too much.

WHEN FRIENDSHIP IS A REAL HELP

Some ten or twelve years ago Sam Stead's brother told him of a little Chinese boy who was brought to this country at the age of six, how he had mastered the English language and was trying to work his way thru school and educate himself for some useful work in life. Sam was interested. Sam always is interested when there is an opportunity to do someone a good turn. He does not parade this characteristic, he just goes ahead in his helpful, smiling way, trying to make life a little brighter for those about him.

So Sam had this Chinese boy, Wong Ming Shek, come to Covina, where he found a place for him as houseboy at the Hernan Allison home. Wong attended the Covina high school and after his graduation he worked his way thru Pasadena junior college, and is now a student in his first year at the University of California at Berkeley, where he is taking an engineering course, still paying his way by working between his hours of study.

Not long ago I had the privilege of reading a letter that Wong had written to Mr. and Mrs. Stead. It was a letter that will be treasured for many years to come because of its friendliness, its sincerity, and the appreciation for all that the Steads had done for him in helping him get his start in life when he was alone and without friends. While I had never seen the boy and did not know him at all, the reading of that letter brought me closer to Mr. and Mrs. Stead than I had been before and reminded me of my early days in Covina when their friendly smiles and their words of encouragement had meant a lot to me, cast as I was among strangers. For years they have been spreading sunshine in the lives of others and today I would like to have them feel that their sunshine has blossomed and that each flower in my bouquet this week comes from the kindnesses they have shown to others. I am sure that I am speaking, too, from the heart of the Chinese boy, Wong Ming Shek.

Father Fitzgerald went into Wahl's drug store Wednesday wearing a real shamrock and was explaining to Lucille Burt that it came from Ireland. To show that she knew her history, Lucille remarked, "Oh yeah? I thought St. Patrick drove all the shamrocks out of Ireland!"

Tom Finch Makes Trip to Michigan

Tuesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finch of Adams park returned from an eleven-days' trip to Flint, Michigan, where they took delivery on a new car, returning by way of Chicago and Elgin. In Elgin they remained for three days as guests of Rev. and Mrs. Leland Brubaker and family, former Covina residents. Rev. Brubaker preceding Rev. Cripe as pastor of the local Brethren church.

DR. WHITE RESUMES PRACTICE

Dr. F. M. White, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, announced his return to his Covina office after an absence of two months, due to illness. Office hours will be afternoons from 2 to 5:30, except Saturdays. Other hours only by special appointment. 3-19

Forum Speaker Urges Better Radio Programs

"There are 86 radio channels in North America, broadcasting thru nearly 700 stations and being received in two-and-one-quarter million sets," was a statement made by Dr. Charles Frederick Lindsey, professor of speech at Occidental college, in his lecture Monday night before the forum of the evening high school.

He told of the enormous influence of radio as a means of moulding public opinion, and stressed the desirability of better programs, especially of an educational nature.

Contrasts were drawn between the radio methods of Europe and the United States. In European countries, broadcasting is controlled by the governments, and funds for its support are derived from a tax on the receiving sets. This is very different from the United States plan, where broadcasting is carried on by private individuals with a profit motive. The profits are secured from advertising sponsors. This system has much to do with the quality of the programs. In spite of the shortcomings of this system, Professor Lindsey expressed the opinion that it is better than the European system. The latter system being controlled by the government is used in some countries for propaganda purposes.

Professor Lindsey stated that there have been many improvements in programs during the last two years. He said that broadcasting authorities used expressions of opinion received from the public as the barometers for indicating types of programs desired.

Opportunities of a young person hoping to enter radio work were discussed, and opinion expressed that success here was determined, in a measure, by the capacity of the person and the connections which he would be able to make in seeking employment. A few outstanding individuals were cited who could command from two to five thousand dollars per program, but the majority of employees work for mediocre wages. Those persons working in the writing, advertising, and managerial and supervisory departments have greater opportunities.

This program was sponsored by the Little Theater group of Covina. Following the lecture the subject was discussed by a panel composed of Miss Elizabeth Elliott, Mrs. Leota Summerhays, and Dr. Charles Samuels, who introduced the speaker. Many persons from the audience contributed to the lively discussion.

Last Services for William Paddock

Private funeral services for William Ormond Paddock, of 343 School street, who died at his home Tuesday, were conducted Friday in Los Angeles, with interment following in the Downey cemetery.

Mr. Paddock had been a resident of Covina for twenty years, and was a retired packinghouse foreman. Born 81 years ago in Linden, Wisconsin, he came to California 25 years ago. Surviving him are his widow, Alice M. Paddock; three daughters, Mary A. Weise, Ada W. Baird, and Ethel Paddock; and a son, Charles A. Paddock.

George Powers and Wife Moving to Riverside

Mr. and Mrs. George Powers are moving this week to Riverside, where they recently purchased a ranch on Arlington avenue, and will make their home.

The beauty shop that has been operated here by Mrs. Powers and her daughter, Mrs. Howard Gillenwater, in the Powers home on School street has been taken over by Mrs. Gillenwater and Mrs. Wallie Barcroft, who will continue to operate the shop. Mr. and Mrs. Barcroft will occupy the Powers home.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers have made their home in Covina for the past fourteen years and have been active in many organizations, chiefly the Moose lodge and Women of the Moose. They have many friends who regret their departure. Mr. Powers has held a government position as a building inspector in Riverside for several months past.

Collector Warns of Illegal Tax Items

Illegal practices in connection with social security taxes uncovered lately in complaints to internal revenue offices brought sharp warning from Nat Rogan, collector of internal revenue for southern California.

Employers who add an item of 2 per cent of sales prices to bills or invoices as a special social security tax, in particular were the subject of Collector Rogan's warning. Such inclusions are misrepresentations of the amount of taxes imposed under the act, he said. Even though the employer elects to pay the employee's share of the tax as well as his own, an addition of 2 per cent of his sales would be far in excess of his total tax.

School Children Fill Street on Way to Theater

Merchants on Citrus avenue at first thought the Commanche Indians were on the warpath again, but it turned out to be 507 Covina grammar school children, marching in solid mass on the sidewalk from the school to Covina theater Tuesday afternoon.

Filling the sidewalks completely for three blocks, the children, ranging from the eighth grade to the smallest tots bringing up the rear, the school marched in orderly if not quiet fashion, with plenty of teachers acting as platoon commanders. It was a sight seldom given the town, as it had never before mobilized its entire grammar school force for such a showing.

Reason for all this shouting and joy was the free entertainment made possible because the school made some money at a carnival held in the park last October, at which time the children were promised a theater party. Manager Knots of the theater got together several short films and "quickies" of the kind that children appreciate, including a Pete Smith picture of a gallant shepherd dog that saved his master's sheep from the coyotes; a sound picture story of how the Star-Spangled Banner came to be written by Francis Scott Key; a demonstration of what is to be found in a drop of water, a German scientific picture; and, of course, a Pop-Eye, the sailor-man, film, where the old hero invariably licks his adversary after taking a big shot of spinach, which the children received with mixed emotions.

When other entertainments are put on that make a little money, the school will repeat this method of entertainment, school officials said. The theater party took the place of the regular Tuesday assembly.

Beauty in Home Furnishing Told to Clumwomen

Edward H. Wilemen, lecturer and consulting decorator of a Los Angeles department store, was the only guest speaker on the section day program of the Covina Woman's club on Monday.

Mr. Wilemen received much of his training abroad and is considered an authority on period furniture and art in the home. His subject on Monday, "Today's Vogue in Home Furnishings," briefly touched upon the points of proper furniture placement, floor coverings, draperies, pictures and their arrangement, the use of natural flowers, and the return of English eighteenth century furniture to popularity. He displayed samples of chintz, cretonne, linen, mohair and damask draperies and discussed proper hanging and draping of materials as well as color combinations, and urged his listeners to note their room requirements and furnish accordingly.

Beautifully finished English Chippendale, Hepplewhite and Sheraton pieces are always in good taste and are more popular now than ever before. Modern furniture and its distinct difference from modernistic, cubistic and futuristic pieces was discussed by the speaker, and the importance of simplified decoration and useful, restful furnishings was stressed.

During the radio section hour plans were made for a benefit musical tea to be given by the radio and household arts divisions at the home of Mrs. E. J. Summerhays on April 2.

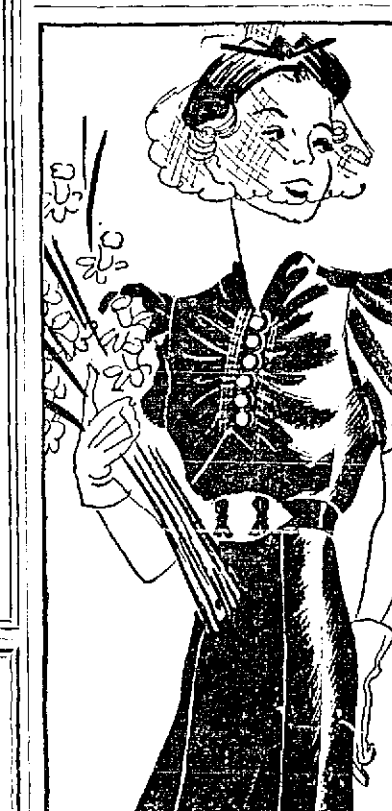

Preceding luncheon a joint meeting of drama and literature-in-the-making sections was held, beginning at 10:30. Mrs. Harry Earle spoke on "The Life and Career of Helen Hayes" and Mrs. George Wheat reviewed the star's current play, "Victoria Regina." This play has had a long and successful run on Broadway in New York and is to be introduced at the Biltmore theater in Los Angeles soon.

Editorials

Seeing Is Believing—

For more than twenty-five years the people of the Covina valley have listened to discussions of plans for the control of flood-water from San Gabriel canyon. The Argus, in that time, has published hundreds of columns of news and editorial matter on this subject.

That control, so greatly desired, is right now approaching achievement. If the citizens of the valley will take a couple of hours and drive up the canyon, a scene will unfold that nearly approaches the dream of the pioneers in this work. Pasadena's great dam is holding the season's surplus water. A great body of water is already backed up behind San Gabriel dam in the main canyon and behind the dam in the west fork.

The main flood control dam will be completed by next September. These long years of wishful thinking are culminating in actual reality.

International Crisis—

New York's mayor, La Guardia, insults Hitler in a speech before Jewish women's society. German government protests to American state department receive prompt apology. Hitler-controlled newspapers in Germany hurl vile epithets at La Guardia. New York mayor stands pat and repeats his insults, etc.

This is ancient strategy on the part of diplomatic corps and international relations to help each other win elections, and is always sure-fire stuff to arouse interest and get votes.

It is all well understood by all principal parties concerned. In effect, La Guardia says that he is on the spot for material for the coming primaries. He picks on Hitler before the Jewish assemblage, and sweeps all the Jewish votes into his basket. Hitler comes back with a snarling attack on Jews in general, and builds up his anti-Semitic propaganda, which was getting to be a bit stale.

It's all old stuff to the politicians. Because there are comparatively few citizens of British descent in Chicago, former-Mayor Thompson periodically indulged in kicking King George out of American politics. It can't be said to be dignified campaigning. But it gets the votes. And dignity is poor comfort for a loser.

Courteous and Dumb—

Hell, it is reliably reported, is paved with good intentions.

Two of these paving stones will without question be fashioned from the act of holding doors open for another when it isn't necessary, and waiting at a cross-walk in an automobile for a pedestrian when he is fifteen or twenty feet away from the car and there is plenty of time for the driver to get the heck out of there and not be the cause of a lot of unnecessary trouble.

We all know the well-meaning dumbbell who is eight or ten feet ahead of us in making an exit from a building, and who hangs onto the door, keeping it open for you, although you may be perfect strangers, not traveling together, and both capable of opening and shutting doors without imbecilic assistance. Such an act is not a courtesy, but just an irritation.

At intersections where cars are required to stop if there is a pedestrian in the cross-walk, it is assinine to wait for the pedestrian when there is ample time for clearance. Waiting for a person to cross when he is perhaps thirty feet from the car, or even if he is just a few feet from the car, is nonsense, a literal interpretation of the law that just isn't good sense. The driver embarrasses the pedestrian to no good purpose. The driver should keep going and get out of the way of everybody. All that is required is that there be a reasonable and safe amount of distance between the walker and the driver.

Capital punishment is, of course, too severe for these offenses. But there should be a society formed to prevent unwanted and misplaced courtesies on the part of dumb eggs who mean well and achieve the opposite.

A Word to Washington—

Plentiful rain in the mountains during the last several months means more vegetation of all types—a heavier brush-cover on mountain slopes in the next few years.

Late rains especially will cause new growth that will have a better chance to live thru this summer, and having survived one year will continue to grow in succeeding years. Heavy brush-cover is the best method of preventing erosion.

But friends of southern California in the nation's capital should keep insisting that the Civilian Conservation Corps be maintained to strength, and, if possible, very measurably increased in manpower. We want more of these camps in this semi-arid country, ready to fight incipient fires. The heavier the brush-cover the hotter and bigger the fires if not controlled.

Senatorial Billboards—

These United States senators and other prominent Washington people who are accepting fat fees for indorsing cigarettes should be told that it is not their names the tobacco manufacturers seek, but the prestige of the office they hold.

That office was created by the people of this country. Temporary holders of that office have no right to defile it or make it ridiculous. They are chosen to that office for a purpose, and that purpose does not include the advertising of any commodity at the expense of the dignity of the office.

One eastern newspaper published a cartoon last week, depicting members of the United States senate in session with placards on their backs, advertising various products, some with the inscription: "This space for sale." The power of all cartoons is exaggeration, but this cartoon does not seem to be a distortion of facts.

Utter disregard of the fitness of things, a willingness to go at all times beyond the bounds of decency, is characteristic of some of the national advertising copy. Most of us are unwilling to believe that we are a nation of morons, which would seem to be strongly indicated in the character of advertising copy so profusely used of late years.

Duplicated Effort—

Federal government—like all other units of government of great size—is wasteful and inefficient. There is duplication of effort. There is overlapping of departments—in some cases, ten to twenty bureaus exist for a job which could be done by one or two. There is too much division of authority.

These are facts recognized by practically everyone. In the course of its history, the government has, like Topsy, "just grown." Often it has grown without rhyme or reason. And every administration since the Civil war has added to the bureaucratic confusion.

As a result, it is widely felt that there is strong need for federal reorganization. The highly conservative Senator Byrd has made a study of the subject and offered recommendations. The president appointed a "committee on administrative management" to investigate and advise on possible changes.

This committee has now made its report. It recommends extensive reorganization within the framework of the constitutional "checks and balances" plan. The three separate major branches of government—executive, legislative and judicial—would, of course, be maintained. Principal act would be the overhaul of more than 100 independent agencies, boards, authorities, and their consolidation within twelve major executive departments.

There are now ten major executive departments, state, treasury, justice, postoffice, navy, war, commerce, agriculture, labor, and interior. Two new departments, whose heads would be cabinet members, would be created—social welfare and public works. The name of the department of interior would be changed to the department of conservation. Independent bureaus of importance which would be absorbed into departments include: Resettlement administration, Tennessee valley authority, social security board, federal housing administration, works progress administration, federal communications commission, rural electrification administration, civil service commission, national labor relations board, veterans' administration, home owners' loan corporation.

There are two main reasons why government reorganization is desirable—efficiency and economy. Unhappily, these ends are not always compatible when politics is involved. Consequently, there is considerable dissension as to the details of reorganization.

It is probable that a White House sponsored plan, similar to that recommended by the president's committee, will be introduced in this session of congress. It will meet with little opposition, doubtless pass with a minimum of debate. However, it will be some time before the solons get around to it—other legislation, notably the judicial reorganization bill, will hold the headlines for many weeks to come. All hopes for an early adjournment of congress have been abandoned.

BELLS

By ZEB MOORE

Of all the vibrations reaching my auditory organs, I know of none so soothing as the pealing of church bells on Sunday morning.

As the tolling of those bells sends out their notes of mute appeal, something stirs within my heart; I feel an insistent urge to answer their summons.

I have that emotional urge to answer them as did the peasants of yesterday who stopped and uttered a prayer. Before my mind's eye, parade the Puritans, each with a husky musket in one hand and a prayer book in the other. I see a country church, identified by its steeple, in a land of rolling prairies, as the convergent point for every man, woman and child for miles around. In each instance, it was the resonant tolling of a bell which called them to worship God, each in his own way.

In the beginning, a bell was chosen because there was no other device at hand; a siren, a horn, or a whistle might have been the choice if it were to be made today. Should we not be glad that the clear, clarion notes of the bell breaks the stillness of Sunday morning, rather than the more stident noises of the more modern methods of present day use? The bell means today exactly what it did 1000 years ago—a call to fellowship in a house of worship.

Edison Company to Broadcast Annual Meeting

Plans for the radio broadcast of the annual meeting of stockholders of the Southern California Edison company, to be held March 19 at Los Angeles, were announced here this week by W. P. Shaffer, manager for the company in this territory. This unique public meeting plan will be utilized by the company to enable the greatest possible number of stockholders, customers and employees to hear the proceedings of the meeting.

"It is the policy of this company to keep the public well informed concerning its activities," Mr. Shaffer said. "Since its pioneer days, the Edison company's interests have been dependent upon and identified with the interests of the cities and towns it serves. This close relationship is due both to the nature of the company's business—supplying an essential service to a large number of people—and to the fact that the company's major ownership and administration is local. The Edison staff in each community is completely a 'hometown' organization."

The full program of the meeting in the auditorium of the Edison building at Los Angeles, from 12 noon until 1 o'clock, will be put on the air over radio stations KHJ, Los Angeles; KDB, Santa Barbara; KP MC, Bakersfield; KFXM, San Bernardino; KFOX, Long Beach; and KVOE, Santa Ana.

Harry J. Bauer, president of the Edison company, will be chairman of the meeting, and will present his annual report to those present in the Edison auditorium and to the radio audience throughout southern and central California. The one-hour program will also include addresses by William C. Mullendore, executive vice-president, and by Fred B. Lewis, vice-president and general manager.

The radio broadcast plan for this year's annual meeting is in substitution for the wired radio transmission over the company's privately-owned telephone system, which was utilized last year. The new plan was adopted to reach the great majority of stockholders as well as consumers, and to effect a saving of time and effort for those unable personally to attend the meeting.

Covina Baptists at Youth Conference

A special youth conference held last Sunday at the University of Redlands drew large groups of young people from southern California Baptist churches, including the Covina group. Among guest speakers on the team touring the United States holding these conferences was Herbert Clark, president of Northern Baptist convention.

The Covina group returned for their evening service, at which Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spangler and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hohman accompanied the group.

Similar interest has recently been shown by the Covina group in attending an annual training school for Christian leadership at the First Baptist church of Pasadena, for six nights of study.

"SWING HIGH SWING LOW" AT FOX-POMONA THEATER

Opening at the Fox theater in Pomona on Sunday, "Swing High, Swing Low" comes as the main feature, with Carol Lombard, Fred MacMurray and Charles Butterworth featured. Reviewers list this film as an exceptionally bright and frothy comedy with music, and the story meshes closely with the abilities of the stars.

White Ribboners Gather for Radio Program

Last month there were ten thousand "Alcohol Education" radio broadcasts in this country, in each state in the union, and Covina W.C.T.U. had one of them. A good audience of white-ribboners gathered at the home of Mrs. Robert Wayne Burns for the anticipated program, which was the same as that in every other one of the ten thousand similar groups. With Mrs. Dan Maxwell, president, the preliminary business was soon accomplished and Mrs. John C. Urquhart, state director of radio work, was introduced as official "announcer" for the afternoon.

Mrs. Urquhart, who is well-known in religious, prohibition, educational and club circles (she is a past state president of the federated women's clubs) spoke briefly on "Radio—Its Uses, Possibilities and Abuses," giving a fascinating glimpse of this comparatively new medium of wide possibilities for education and advertising, and telling of the work in southern California carried out for the W.C.T.U., with four weekly and one monthly broadcast.

Representing Miss Bertha Rachel Palmer, national director of "Alcohol Education," Mrs. Mary M. Coman, local director of the department, then read, as if over the radio, the broadcast, which came as a personal message to each white ribboner, the special points being, first: "Many things in alcohol education are different from the scientific temperance instruction we have known and taught. You see, we have a brand new job to do and we must do it in a brand new way. The basic materials, the scientific truths are the same, but the movies, the radio, the auto and billboards have made necessary a different style in approach and presentation of these truths, as well as styles in hats, dresses, etc. Therefore we use the new words. To get and hold attention we must work in a new, different way. Our task is to present an unpopular subject to an indifferent public and it must be done in a manner that we must present the fundamental information by means of experiments and objective devices. We must be direct, concrete and simple, use scientific language, say 'may,' 'might' and 'tends toward,' instead of 'always does.'"

Carrying out the idea of a radio broadcast, the "announcer" here interrupted the reader to give the name of the station, "HERE," give a news flash and one or two comments. Resuming the reading of the message, the discussion of turning the attention of people in churches, clubs, business and homes to the problem was taken up, with the conclusion that "education, if slow, was the sure way."

A practical part of the nationwide plan was the offer that to each person who would write Miss Palmer some definite thing she might learn from the broadcast, a piece of reference material would be sent. Accordingly, some fifty already addressed postal cards were provided the listeners last Friday, and practically all were filled out and mailed. The special late model radio used in the early part of the program was loaned to the occasion by the Stead electric shop.

Mrs. Harry G. Earle led in the opening devotional service, and Miss Georgiella Lay, for the special music of the afternoon, gave a charming McDowell solo.

Notice was given by Mrs. Urquhart of a series of national broadcasts each Sunday afternoon until May 2, over KECA, at 5 o'clock, in connection with alcohol education. Appreciative mention was made of the life and character of the late Mrs. H. M. Houser, long a faithful member of the organization.

The next meeting will be held the second Friday in April at the home of Mrs. Marion Reed, when Mrs. C. R. McCall will present a group of students in oratorical contest under the medal contest department.

NEW FIRE STATION FOR BALDWIN PARK

A new fire station at Baldwin Park has been authorized by the county planning commission, it was announced this week.

The building will cost $3600, and will be built by a private concern at 511 North Maine street, and leased to the district for a term of years. The new building will be much larger than the present quarters, it was stated.

Gold Stars for Union Oil Men in Covina Area

Privileged to wear the gold star every year for the past seven years because no accidents of any kind have marred the record of employees, a group of Union Oil company workers of the Covina district were at the Jonathan club in Los Angeles last week, guests of District Agent Harvey M. Brubaker and the company.

Covina district is very near "tops" in the United States in the matter of care in handling highly-dangerous oil-products, and also in care in driving on the highways, Brubaker said. If one accident occurs during the year the gold star is withheld, but because of good teamwork and caution the district has held it for seven years. The rule applies to all employees, including clerks and salesmen, as well as workmen at the storehouse and plant, he said.

The dinner was served to the staff with members of the state and company safety boards present and participating.

Mrs. Warren Called to Sister's Bedside

Mrs. William Warren has been spending the past two weeks in Eureka at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. H. L. Burnham, who has been critically ill following the sudden death of her husband, which occurred about two weeks ago from a heart attack.

Mr. Burnham had been in failing health for some time, a sudden heart ailment causing his demise. Mr. and Mrs. Burnham are former Covina residents, having made their home here for some years. Mrs. Warren hopes to move her sister to Covina within a short time.

Voorhis Heads Demands for Freeze Loans

Disaster Loan Corporation, a federal enabling organization formed since the floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, heard from the California congressmen below the Tehachapi this week, when a group from southern California headed by H. Jerry Voorhis of the twelfth district urged that freezes such as occurred in the citrus area last January be included in the terms of the act.

The California congressmen were rebuffed once by the committee, but said they would take their demands to the floor of the house. Such an amendment would make it possible for citrus growers to share in the twenty million dollar loans that will be made available for disasters.

It was declared that the corporation would then be enabled to meet a demand for federal funds if and when citrus growers decided to re-equip with new orchard heating devices.

Group Entertained at Hohman Home

Society for the Hard-of-Hearing held its second party of the year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hohman last Friday evening.

In February, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Prather entertained a large group of members and friends. Mrs. Alice Clapp entertained with a group of familiar songs, accompanied at piano by Mrs. Violet Lowery, and the hostess led in old-time games, with appropriate prizes for the winners.

Mrs. G. B. Scofield and Mrs. H. N. Dickinson assisted in serving dainty cakes and coffee.

Although a rainy evening prevented several from attending the party last week, which was carried out in the St. Patrick's motif, a good time was enjoyed. Mrs. C. M. Wood directed the games, including molding of pigs from chewing gum, a prize being given for the best. Mrs. Forrier, Mrs. Bomer and the hostess served cakes and coffee.

The Pacific zone conference of the American Society for the Hard-of-Hearing will be held in San Diego March 21 to 23. Members from the local society attending will be Mrs. G. B. Scofield, Mrs. E. M. Doughty and Miss Zoe Wolcott as representatives, and George King, president, and S. R. Headley.

Continuance Asked at Masonic Home

Older boys and girls of the Masonic home are now making out their applications for re-appointment, which will receive consideration by the board of trustees at a meeting to be held here April 10.

While membership in the home may be continued until the age of eighteen, continuance of any boy or girl in the home after the age of sixteen is contingent upon annual re-appointment. To secure such re-appointment each must make a written application, which must set forth scholastic record, vocational plans for the future, work record for the past year, amount of earning compared with the average, conduct record, and general attitude as a citizen of the home community.

Application is accompanied also by reports from houseparents and supervisors, all of which taken together must contain evidence satisfactory to trustees that the applicant merits continued membership in the home.

These plants were later presented as table prizes to the winners of high score at each table. The guests included Mrs. I. F. Nance, Mrs. Eugene McNair, Mrs. Sam Stead, Mrs. Ralph Chambers, Mrs. George Wheat, Mrs. Clarence Hunter, Mrs. George Hinsberger, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Harry Upham, Mrs. Ben Millikan, Mrs. Charles Samuels, Mrs. Russell Davis, Mrs. Ardin Hotchkiss, Mrs. Robert Crad-

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon were these verses from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God." A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Clears away the mists of error, and turns man from matter to Spirit, as the flower turns from darkness to light. Man then appropriates those things which 'eye hath not seen nor ear heard.' Paul and John had a clear apprehension that, as mortal man achieves no worldly honors except by sacrifice, so he must gain heavenly riches by forsaking all worldliness."

Ford Monoplane Arrives Here

Powered with a Ford V-8 engine, a low-winged monoplane known as the Arrow Sport V-8, has just arrived in California, and is the first airplane with an automobile engine to get an approved certificate from the United States department of commerce, according to Howard Huntington of Huntington & Ross, Inc., California distributors for the plane.

With a cruising speed of 95 miles per hour and a top speed of 105 miles per hour, the Arrow Sport V-8 has a cruising radius of 350 miles and can climb 750 feet a minute, it is said. Priced to sell at $1500, the new plane is expected to make a strong bid for business in the low-price field.

"Airplane manufacturers have long wanted to take advantage of the low cost of automobile engines, Mr. Huntington said, 'and as soon as a successful auto-engine powered plane had been designed, the Ford V-8 engine's dependability, its power and compactness made it the logical choice.'"

Averaging 16 miles to the gallon, the engine of the Arrow Sport V-8 is a regular stock Ford V-8 engine except for lighter pistons, increased oil capacity, and a 192 to 1 gear ratio, Huntington pointed out.

Walnut Growers Guard Against Bud Frosting

That what is one man's meat is another man's poison is shown by the fact that the January cold weather which caused considerable damage to citrus orchards has been of great benefit to the walnut growers, according to a statement by W. R. Stanton, manager of La Puente Cooperative Walnut Growers' association.

However, with walnut trees showing top-notch budding at this time, there is a probability of damage thru being nipped by freezing. The trees are budding out evenly over the entire spread of the limbs, and there is very little evidence of delayed foliage, and a condition that is to be desired by walnut men is being experienced.

Damage by cold nights depends very much on the duration of the low temperature period, and the ranchers are watching this condition very carefully.

The frost reporting service will be of assistance to the walnut ranchers, since as it was to citrus growers during the January cold spell. Some of the walnut groves are protected by orchard heaters, though the percentage of such protection is very slight as compared with the same protection in the citrus growing area.

Nature Preparing Flower Festival

Nature's most brilliant display of wildflowers in twenty years is predicted for the latter part of April by Dr. A. L. Grant, botany instructor of the evening division of University of Southern California.

"Abundant rains will probably make this season's displays more colorful than two years ago, especially in the Arvin flower hills and Mojave district," said the instructor. "Especially vivid will be the golden poppies, blues in lupins, reds of the paint bushes, and varied hues of yellows, whites, and pinks found in the birdseye glia, evening primrose, owl's clover, blazing stars, and this-like sage."

PRATHERS AND GUESTS MAKE TRIP NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Prather and their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keyes and Mrs. Ada King of New York, made a delightful trip to San Francisco, going by way of the coast and returning by the inland route.

They took in all the side trips about the bay city, visiting the Presidio, the world-famed Cliff House, the sites of the Golden Gate bridge and the newly-opened bay bridge. Enroute they stopped in Santa Barbara and enjoyed the fields of wild flowers along the way.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter. The kidneys must remove from the blood the good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

DOAN'S PILLS

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Get Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Business Women Celebrate 14th Anniversary

Fourteenth anniversary of Covina Business and Professional Women's club was celebrated at the regular dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Longworth's, when a program of unusual interest was presented. Table decorations carried the St. Patrick suggestion, and the guests found their places according to their birthday month.

The program began with a comic number, "Spanish Operetta," by Elin Anderson and Mary Funk in costume, and pantomime illustration by Lucile Gloor.

A panel discussion of "Women's Place in the World" was conducted by six members under the direction of Ella Patten, program chairman. Lura Hixson told of the early accomplishments of women, reading excerpts from the book, "Heritage of Women," by Alice Ames Winter.

Ruth Hepner followed with a discussion of the pioneer women of America, using the book, "Angels and Amazons," as her authority.

"Women in Business" was discussed informally by Lottie Merwin and Vera Hage reviewed a magazine article, "Ladies in Politics," published recently, which concerned the accomplishment of women in the sixteen years she has been voting in the United States.

Lillian Douglass told of the outstanding accomplishments of women in the last decade, and Stella Brown discussed "Modern Women."

During the business session, presided over by President Lura Hixson, Yula Bryant and Lilian Douglass were selected to represent the local club, with its president, at the district meeting to be held early in April in Santa Monica. Eleanor McDougall was chosen to represent the club at the annual chamber of commerce banquet to be held next Monday evening.

Announcement was made that the April meeting of the book review section would be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Thorpe in Covina Highlands, when Mr. Thorpe will tell of his travels in foreign lands.

Miscellany Club at Jobe Home

Mrs. Bess Aschenbrenner was the speaker at the meeting of Irwindale Miscellany club held all-day Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edwin Jobe on West Rowland avenue. She spoke on the planting and care of shrubs and bulbs for the garden.

During the morning hours the members and five guests sewed, and a luncheon was served at noon at tables that were trimmed for the season in St. Patrick's colors. Assisting were Mrs. Elmer King, Mrs. C. P. Reed, Mrs. William Sprotte, Mrs. Hugh Arnel, Mrs. Ben Thorpe, Mrs. E. E. Harris, and Miss Hazel Bristow. Following the club's custom, a table was set for those whose birthdays have occurred during the month of March, including Mrs. W. R. Searcy, Mrs. Herbert Casey, Miss Hazel Bristow, and Mrs. Mary Rae Smith. A birthday cake held the center of this table.

Guests for the day were Mrs. Aschenbrenner, Mrs. McKibben, Mrs. Snodgrass, Mrs. Earle and Mrs. Eulalia Overholzer of Covina, and Mrs. Roy Cox of Garden Grove.

Services Here for Daniel Burrows

Funeral services will be held today (Friday) from the chapel of Christiansen and Moore for Daniel A. Burrows, 80, who passed away on Wednesday at his home on West Hadley street, Whittier. Rev. V. C. Hayman, pastor of the Baptist church, will officiate, and interment will be made at Rose Hills memorial park.

Mr. Burrows leaves a son, Harry Burrows, with whom he made his home in Whittier, and a son and daughter, Roy F. Burrows and Mrs. Carlye Lyons, in New Haven, Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burrows are former residents of this city, the latter being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones of East Badillo street. R. L. Jones, E. L. Jones, George P. Meek and Eugene Christiansen will act as pallbearers.

Crowds Drawn by Church Revivalist

Large audiences every night have greeted the evangelistic campaign now in progress at the Christian church. Dr. and Mrs. Homer Kellem and daughter, Vivienne, have been leading the meetings each evening, assisting Rev. F. M. Arant, the pastor. The rainy weather the first of the week failed to hinder the attendance.

A feature which arouses competition on some nights is the giving away of a nature picture drawn by Mrs. Kellem. The award is made to the one having the largest number present by his invitation.

Dr. Kellem continues each night except Saturday during all of next week. His Bible sermons are said to be clear and concise on the religious issues of life.

By DWIGHT HUTCHINSON

This last week has featured one of the busiest five-day periods in campus history this year. In fact, it was so busy that teachers were presented with a mimeographed calendar of the week's events on Monday morning.

What will you do when you leave high school? This was the unexpected question that Miss Taylor popped at the senior classes Tuesday morning when she explained the vocational aptitude test that the high school is offering each senior this year. That the findings would be entirely confidential was one of the assurances that Miss Taylor made.

The test, taken on Wednesday morning by some 200 seniors, is a free service designed to help the student in choosing the occupation he or she is best fitted for.

Tuesday morning Mr. Cummings took the boys' glee club to West Covina in continuation of the school's policy of providing entertainment several times each year for the schools of the district.

Bonita high's racket squad invaded the local courts to tangle with Mr. Dresia's Cardinal netsters last Wednesday afternoon. In the first singles division, Jack Falkenrath tallied a straight win, while Al Mallow and Chue Carroll dropped their first doubles match to the visitors.

San Bernardino, league debate champions, met Covina's negative team of Bill Fabricik and Paul Egly Thursday afternoon in the closing round of Citrus Belt debates. Covina's affirmative team on the national question journeyed to Pomona on the same afternoon.

The organist who will play for "The Quest," Little Theater's Easter pageant, gave a recital for the high school last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon Citrus high's tennis squad met Mrs. Nichols' local racketeers on the school courts. Results obtained too late for publication.

WE'RE TOLD: Kenny had some disastrous experiences with a certain wastebasket . . . and Miss Yeager had plenty to say . . . "We hope you don't turn over this plate as easily as you did a Ford V-8," catching our eye as the best bit of verse we've seen in some time . . . a remarkable association between April Fool's day and a certain guy's birthday . . . Teddy Hayes winning a bet with his brother, Eddie, after wearing home a full makeup and beard last Tuesday . . . now all he has to do is collect it . . . Pat genuinely surprised last Wednesday evening — never bud put it, "Sweet sixteen and never been kissed" . . . Green all over the campus on St. Patrick's day.

danger to the whole of Europe. We, in this country, are not entirely safe from these radical uprisings, as witness the seriousness of our own sit-down strikes in Detroit, and indeed, in southern California, he said. He was not one to say, however, that Europe is on the brink of war, but rather that war seemed to be definitely in the making.

Stanley Trueblood presided and announced that next week's program would feature the subject, "California Roads," a program to be furnished by the Union Oil company. It was made known that Bob Burns, the rightful president of the club, who was dethroned or demoted, or something, when he went back to Washington as secretary to Congressman Voorhis, will be back and functioning here on April 8.

ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH

WE guarantee to convince you conclusively that this big superbly styled 1937 Studebaker Dictator is a better car than any higher priced six. And more than that—we'll match this Dictator, even on a low cost basis, with any lower priced car because the Dictator's sounder, longer-lived construction plus its sensational Fram oil cleaner and gas-saving automatic overdrive will even up any apparent price difference!
